Seniors Count Down Days

'Til Graduation

By: Sheila Simmons

The Zion Chapel seniors have already begun their countdown to the night of graduation. With only 72 more days left to attend school, some are looking forward to graduation and some are dreading it.

Plans are being made for after graduation activities for most of the seniors. Many of the seniors will go to work, then some will go on to college to further their education.

The countdown, which started the week of January 21, lets the seniors know that they have only weeks left before they leave teachers and friends to start their own lives, on their own.

Terry Dease Chosen All-Tournament

Terry Dease was chosen to represent Zion Chapel on the Coffee County Junior High All-Tournament Basketball Team. Terry scored eleven points and retrieved nine rebounds in Zion Chapel's game against Goodman to become Zion Chapel's "high-point" man for the night and a member of the All-Tournament Team.

Members of the All-Tournament Team were chosen from teams competing in the basketball tournament -- Dauphin, Kinston, New Brockton, Goodman, Enterprise, Elba, and Zion Chapel. All-Tournament team members are selected by members of the tournament committee and are selected for outstanding performance in the basketball tournament which lasted from Thursday, January 31 - Saturday, February 2.

Z.C. Basketball Bulletin

By: Chris Hodge

Last week the Jr. Rebels closed out their season with a loss at the hands of the Goodman Eagles. Even though the Rebels played with new found desire and intensity they came up one point short at the buzzer. The Jr. Rebels didn't win but two games this year but they were never out of a game until it was over. In other basketball action, the varsity and B-team both fell to the Elba Tigers on the road. The B-team only lost by one but poor free-throw shooting brought on the Rebels downfall. The varsity had some key players in foul trouble most of the night plus the fact that Elba was hitting all night from the field.

REBEL 85 IS COMPLETE!

By: Kim Brunson

For the past two months the annual staff has been working steadily, during and after school hours, to put the final touches on the yearbook. The final deadline was February 1, but missed because some of the photographs were not yet developed. Mrs. Rachel Bryan, yearbook sponsor, is still pretty sure that the books should be ready for distribution in May.

NEW DRUM EQUIPMENT

By: Teresa Holcomb

The Zion Chapel Band will have a new line of drum equipment for the marching band. The music department received bids from several different music stores. Ludwig is the percussion company that was awarded the contract.

The new equipment includes two power cut quads, one bass drum, one snare drum, and vest carriers for all the equipment. The drums are not just new equipment to be used, but an update on the drums we already have. The money used to buy the equipment came from doughnut sales and the car wash.

LIBRARY HOLDS BOOK SALE

By: Wyman McWaters

The Zion Chapel library is in the process of selling paperbacks. The library has a wide selection of these books, ranging from classics to non-fiction.

The sale has been going on since last Friday, and will continue until all the books have been purchased. All the paperbacks are ten cents. The library is selling these books to make room on the shelves for the hard-back books being transferred from the New Hope Library. Everyone is invited to come and visit the library and purchase a paperback book.

Z.C. STUDENTS PLACE IN CONTEST

By: Wendy Nelson

Vickie Marler and Tammy Ellis placed third in a cosmetology contest at New Brockton. The cosmetology department at the Coffee County Area Vocational School held a contest to prepare its students for the State Board Testing. The contest was held Monday, January 4 during school. Each student that participated in the contest had to have a model whose hair they had to wash, cut, roll and set. Mrs. Donaldson, cosmetology teacher at New Brockton, decided the winners.

BASEBOARD PLACED IN HALL

By: Tabetha Rodgers

Tony Shiver and Wade Flowers are giving Z.C. a new look. These two boys have been putting baseboards around the hall walls. They say they are getting some good practice for an up-coming competition. Tony and Don McWaters will be competing in the cabinet division. Wade is the only one competing in carpentry. His competition involved building saw horses and small play houses. If they win county then they will go to George C. Wallace to the district competition.

When asked about who helped, they said a special thanks to Mr. Warren Pless for all his help.

RECRUITERS SPEAK TO 4-H FRATERNITY

By: Janet Stewart

Zion Chapel students and graduates attending the February meeting of the Coffee County 4-H Gold Key Fraternity were Fran Chirico, Kim Liprot, Janet Stewart and Mike Chirico.

The guest speakers for the meeting were Sergeant Windler J. Tomlin from the U.S. Army Recruiting Station in Enterprise and Sergeant Jerome Hartaway from the Army Reserve. They talked to the group about the different programs that the Army and Reserve have to offer. They talked about the Army College Fund, skill training, travel opportunities, and medical benefits. They had pamphlets available on the programs.

Business on the agenda of the meeting included the 4-H Poster Art Contest, the 4-H Craft Exhibit, the Calf Show and the Electric Demonstration. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

AGRI-BUSINESS BUYS NEW EQUIPMENT . . . The Agribusiness department at Z.C. recently purchased new equipment for the shop. Mr. Stewart, the Agribusiness teacher, ordered two new drills, a drill press and a drill press to be used by the students in Agribusiness. The equipment was purchased with FFA funds and money made by orange sales. (Reported by: Sarah Campbell)

Kids writing "I love you" On hearts painted red. Glue smeared with little fingers. So the colors blend.

White lace so loosely Tacked around the heart, They didn't know It could easily come apart.

Bright red boxes Filled with chocolate sweets, Boys know just the kind That girls like to eat.

Big white teddy bears Signed with "I love you," Sweet verses of love Telling her it's true.

State Inspectors Tour Coffee County To Witness Damage Caused By Recent Rains

Officials from the Emergency Management Department were in Coffee County last week, and after touring the county with local officials agreed that the road damage caused by recent heavy rains was extensive enough to warrant aid from the state. Coffee County Probate Judge

Marion Brunson reported the two representatives from the state agency spent approximately three hours photographing and inspecting the most heavily damaged areas. Judge Brunson and county engineer Frank Charlton conducted the tour of damaged areas. The first stop was on County Road 25, near the Ino Community, at a site where over one-half the pavement had slipped into a cavernous washout over 50 feet deep. The road, a major rural artery, had to be closed due to the possibility of further cave-ins. The state officials also viewed less severe damage on paved roads and inspected dirt roads.

The southwest corner of the county was the hardest hit area of the county and reportedly received over six inches of rain over a 24-hour span on February 5.

Judge Brunson stated he was impressed with the inspection team's thoroughness and said the state officials indicated the road damages should qualify for state aid. Brunson added that the representatives would ask federal personnel to visit the areas to determine if federal funds would be available. According to Judge Brunson, soil conservation service representatives had inspected the damaged areas to find out if it could offer financial assistance.

The heavy rains closed over 40 roads in the county and caused streams to cover bridges; however, all roads except County 25 and the Green Horn Saddle Club Road have been reopened.

CAVE-IN CAUSED BY HEAVY RAINS . . . This portion of Coffee County Road 25 remains closed after approximately two-thirds of the paved road caved in as a result of heavy rains early this month. State inspectors viewed the damage last week to determine whether funds would be available to repair the heavily traveled rural road.

Elba Principal Tells Of Standards Required For Advanced Diploma

The City of Elba School board met Thursday, February 7, in a regularly scheduled meeting. All members were present, and chairman Butch Oges presided. Board members discussed pending opening of bids on the new roof for the vocational building, update on the status of school bus fleet; dove into setting standards for the new "honors" or advanced diploma and heard a report from state superintendent Wayne Teague from local superintendent John Osburn.

The first order of business after approving the minutes of the previous meeting was a report by Osburn that even after paying for the new school bus body at $17,000 and other bills, the general fund had a balance of $35,600. This contrasted with a $30,000 shortfall during the previous month and reflected an infusion of property tax payments from the revenue commissioner.

The arrival of two new school buses leaves the fleet of seven with four 1974, one 1980 and two 1985 buses on regular routes, with three 1974 buses in reserve. Osburn recommended, and the board approved, donating a 1964 bus to the city recreation department to be used by the senior citizens and as a shuttle bus for the department.

A new van is being modified to transport students to Project Independence in New Brockton. The board will consider renovating the present project van to be used to transport school groups too small to justify a large bus.

The proposed honors diploma will be offered under the "Excellence in Education" program beginning with the class of students to be in the ninth grade next year. It will be an intensified course of study designed to better prepare students for a college education, according to high school principal Lamar Foley.

Foley also stated he and Osburn would recommend to the board that the minimum standard for this degree be more stringent than the state minimum to earn the advanced degree.

Requirements for the standard diploma will also be modified with the minimum required units increased to 22. Physical education will be cut to one unit. Computer literacy will be a requirement but not as a course unit. Students will be required to be able to use the computer in their other courses of study. Science will increase from one to two units, and a course in Home and Personal Management may be taken as an eighth or ninth grade course and still qualify.

The advanced diploma will require two foreign language units; three math units rather than two for the standard diploma and three science courses.

While only 22 units are required to complete this honors course, additional units will be encouraged for these students. Foley noted that only eight or ten students a year will attempt this course of study at Elba High.

Final approval as presented or with modifications will be done at a later board meeting.

Also discussed by the board was the procedure for students who attend school for the twelve years, but fail the graduation exam (special ed students included). Previously all students completing the twelve years of study were given a diploma in spite of abilities. It was the belief of state officials that such action was required to prevent lawsuits. Now, however, it is required that students pass the graduation test to receive a diploma. Certificates of attendance may or may not be presented to other students, according to the dictate of the board. This decision will be made in the near future.

The next regular meeting of the board is set for March 7, at 5 p.m. in the superintendent's office.

Dickinson Honored By ROA

Congressman William L. "Bill" Dickinson of Alabama, ranking Republican on the House Armed Services Committee, is being honored as the "Minute Man of the Year" for 1985 by the Reserve Officers Association (ROA) of the U.S.

The award was presented to Dickinson February 20 during the annual banquet of the three-day ROA Mid-Winter Conference held at the Washington Hilton Hotel in Washington, D.C., at which Dickinson was featured speaker.

The most important and prestigious honor given by the ROA, the award is presented each year to the citizen who has contributed most to national security in these times.

In informing Dickinson of his selection, Robert H. Spiro Jr., ROA executive director of the ROA, stated that "Our association is convinced that your career is particularly outstanding and that you are working courageously and with great talent and dedication for the security of this country. It is our hope that in making this award we can call attention to the precepts of public service which your career exemplifies."

In commenting on the award, Congressman Dickinson stated, "This is one of the most important honors that I have ever been given. I appreciate it very much and can assure the ROA and the American people that I will continue to work tirelessly to improve the security of the United States."

Car-Truck Collision Blocks Highway 87

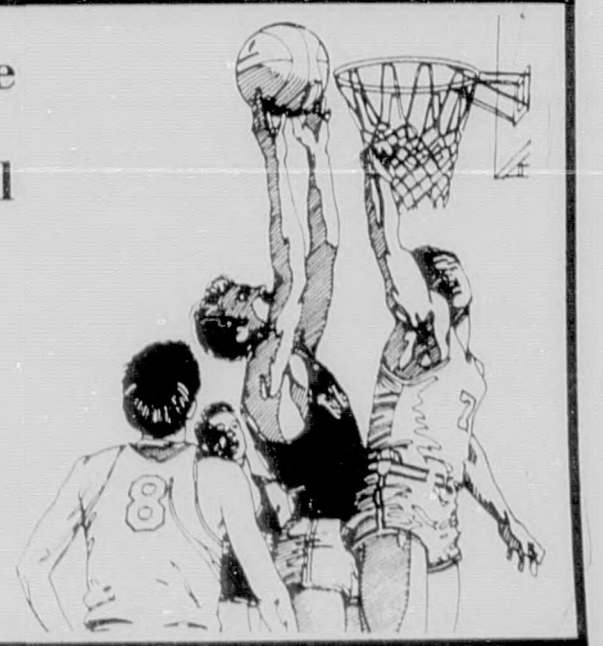

A traffic accident on Tuesday, February 12, involving a tractor-trailer rig and an automobile, blocked both lanes of traffic on Highway 87 North and did extensive damage to both vehicles, although both drivers escaped unharmed.

The accident, which occurred at approximately 3:30 p.m., occurred when a tractor-trailer rig driven by Norman Steller of Elba, collided with a car driven by Richard Bundy of Jack. Both vehicles were traveling north at the time of the accident, and according to witnesses at the scene, the car was turning left into a driveway when the truck, which had moved into the left lane to pass, struck the car, dragging it 40 feet along the roadway.

Brainstorms.....

With Ferrin Cox

Governor George Wallace is showing folks he ain't afraid. When the news reporters revealed he had received $15,000 in campaign funds for his next political race, he announced that the information was wrong. He had received much more than that - and proceeded to itemize his contributions. Now that news item has been defused a bit, but other potential candidates have been put on the spot to do the same, and so far have declined. Wallace is in a wheelchair, deaf of hearing and has other problems, but no one can deny that he is still the sharpest political figure in Alabama.

Artificial hearts will apparently become more and more common in America. The surgery Sunday to install the machine in 58-year-old Murry Haydon took even less time than the last such operation. Doctors say he is doing so well. "It is scary." We don't doubt the machines work well, but are wondering if side effects that have plagued both previous patients have been sufficiently understood to make any of our other folks candidates for the operation.

Somebody set up a popular vote system of selecting the "Best Amateur Athlete of the Year" many years ago. Voting for the 1984 honor was recently completed and my favorite didn't win. A male swimmer, who did a great job, won the honor, with my favorite Mary Lou Retton, the 16-year-old charmer missing out. We know nothing about the respective talents of the various candidates for the honor, nor the complexity of their particular sport, but we just like the young lady's smile.

General William Westmoreland's $120 million libel suit against CBS is suddenly over, without a jury decision. The decision to drop the suit surprised us as well as a lot of other folks. While we questioned his ability to ever win the case, we never thought for one minute he would stop in the middle (almost at the end) of the courtroom drama. Maybe it was lack of money to complete the case, lack of money to handle appeals if CBS lost an appeal, sudden realization that maybe he couldn't win and/or the thoughts that if he lost, CBS could sue for all their millions of legal expenses - whatever; the outcome left a lot of folks on both sides of the argument unhappy (even some jurors expressed frustration). But then the folks to make happy are the ones involved, and since they both agreed to the settlement, apparently they are happy.

We have a new book we are reading. It is a religious book, "Brothers of the Bible", and was written by Rev. James A. Auchmuty Jr. Jim is a former pastor of the Elba First Baptist Church and is at the time of this writing conducting a revival here. It is a book of sixteen illustrated sermons on brotherhood and family relations and takes different Biblical brothers and paints a picture of the ups and downs of their lives as recorded in the Bible. We have read several of these and enjoyed them. Jim is a pretty good fellow (well, for a Baptist preacher), and we are probably more interested in the book because of our admiration of him. The book can be purchased from the Baptist Book Store (see Methodist can't go there), plus we understand Mrs. Erelene Poole has several copies Auchmuty conveniently left with her.

My family attended the revival services at First Baptist Monday evening and it was such a shock to Pastor Pat McFadden he even mentioned it from the pulpit. He also told all those good Baptists and the sprinkling of Methodists and other visitors of my good - showing up for the 7 p.m. service at 6 p.m. However, he was kinder than wife Heddy who noted I should have read the church page of The Elba Clipper.

We like a TV commercial we have been seeing recently. It advertises a computer and makes claims about how it will do everything for you, including paying your bills. The claim statement concerns not worrying if you run out of money before getting the bills paid... even our government can't live within its means.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I am writing to ask citizens in your area to take a last ditch effort to stop the holiday expense pay to our legislators. Now that the Supreme Court has ruled that legislative expenses cannot be questioned in court, there is only one course of action left to stop this unnecessary expense. We will try to convince a majority of the legislature to pass a joint resolution rescinding the 13-day holiday expense money.

We believe this is possible, because the House of Representatives was overwhelmingly against the holiday expenses and the Senate was evenly split.

Citizens in your area can help in two ways. First, contact your legislators and ask them to sponsor and support a joint resolution rescinding the holiday expense money. Second, send whatever financial contribution you can afford to help defray the legal costs of this taxpayers' campaign. Our independent citizens' committee will oversee how the money is used. Our committee is called "Taxpayers' Defense Fund," 15 Branwood Drive, Montgomery, AL 36109.

Sincerely,
Malcolm Brassell, Chairman
Taxpayers' Defense Fund

Azalea Garden Club Meets With Mrs.

Claude Dorsey

"Flower Designs For The Home" was the program topic, so artistically demonstrated by guest artist, Mrs. Gene Cline of Enterprise for the February meeting of the Azalea Garden Club. Mrs. Cline was introduced by Mrs. T.M. Miller.

Using fresh flowers from the florist and green filler from the yard, Mrs. Cline demonstrated three new Line-Focal filler method of flower arranging. Of the six basic shapes in flower arranging, she created three of the most desired arrangements. Choosing a low oblong basket and colorful fruit, the basic horizontal developed the perfect shape for a dining table centerpiece. Using a brass candlestick and a small container, she created the basic side triangle, the most popular for use in modern backgrounds.

Mrs. Cline expressed the importance of coordinating flower and room colors and designs for seasonal or special holidays. Members were urged to add a breath of beauty to their homes by being original and creative.

affectionate, but some people do not have sweethearts. This is where B & L Computer Match comes in and matches sweethearts. After Christmas the Student Council members passed out questionnaires. They asked questions such as "what kind of a vehicle would you like to have?" You would select one of the multiple choice answers.

This is the second year of the Computer match. It was a huge success and the student body, including myself, are excited about our matches.

Cooperative Training At EHS

The Industrial Cooperative Training Program (formerly called D.O.) at Elba High School is a two-year program offering up to three credits per year for successful completion. It is open to 11th and 12th grade students who have an occupational objective set for themselves; that is, those students who are seeking an introduction to, and training in, a chosen field.

The Co-op program is, as its name suggests, a program of cooperation between the school and the local business community. Students receive one hour per day of related classroom study. This is in the form of individualized study guides which instruct the student in the theory of their chosen field. Students also receive in-class instructions on good work habits, attitudes, human relations, and consumer education.

The Co-op students spend a minimum of three hours a day in on-the-job training at various local businesses. This is very valuable training, as students are in a real working situation and under the supervision of qualified trainers. The school and supervised on-the-job experiences are coordinated by the school coordinator and the employers so that each can contribute to the students' employability.

The success of the co-op program is not only dependent upon classroom instruction but also upon the training which is offered by businesses in the community.

Students receive a classroom grade and a grade from their employers who are, in effect, instructors for the school.

We, at Elba High School are very fortunate to have local businesses who are willing to train these students. Forty-two students are currently employed. Students earnings totaled approximately $120,000 last year for the nine month school term.

Local businesses which are currently participating in the co-op training are:

1. Beck's Buffet
2. Big Bear
3. Busy Bee Day Care Center
4. City of Elba

Faculty Given Flowers By

Student Government Assn.

BY: KIM BRUNSON

The Z.C. Student Council met recently to discuss fund raising plans.

In a previous meeting a dance was decided on, but the idea was decided against because of low funds. They then decided to give all the teachers a carnation and a Valentine's Card. The flowers were delivered in the morning on Valentine's Day.

The money to buy the flowers was donated by the students.

The Zion Chapel Beta Club held their February meeting so they could make the final decision on the graduation stole, cords, and tassels.

BASKETBALL
BY: RICHIE RUGG

The Zion Chapel Basketball Team finished the season by defeating Arion. The B-team record was 11 and 4 losing only to Goshen, New Brockton, and Elba. The Varsity recorded a 16 and 5 record and is ranked sixth in the state and first in Southwest Alabama.

SPANISH STUDENTS DRAW HOUSE PLANS
BY: JANET STEWART

Drawing plans of their casas (houses) was a project recently assigned to Senora Evangelina Geiger's Spanish classes. Each student was required to draw the plan of his or her house as it would be seen from an aerial view. The students were to label the rooms and furniture with Spanish words that they had learned in their vocabulary lessons.

Some of the vocabulary words were casa-house, cuarto de bano - bathroom, alcala - bedroom, muebles - furniture, sala - living room, and cortina - curtain.

PIERCED EARS, INITIALED HEADS
BY: JULIE DAVIS

"What's wrong with his head?" "What's that in his ear?" "Some of his hair is missing!" These are just a few of the remarks being heard around Zion Chapel lately.

First, there were fur coats, gold fingernails, and guitars. Now, there are pierced ears and initialed heads.

Some guys at Zion Chapel are getting their left ear pierced. Wearing an earring in the left ear is supposed to signify that a person is "cool" or "macho."

Another fad at Zion Chapel is the initialed head. Some guys are having numbers or initials shaved on the back of their head.

Kim Liptrot and Barbara Liptrot were recently in a speaking contest at the vocational school in New Brockton. Both Kim and Barbara placed in the contest. Barbara came in first place and Kim placed third.

Kim and Barbara have been in speaking contests for several years beginning with their participation in 4-H public speaking contests.

When asked if they enjoy speaking both said "Yes, very much." Kim says, "It not only gives me an opportunity to speak and represent my school and clubs but a chance to better myself and strengthen my self-courage."

County

Students Given

Scoliosis Test

BY: KRISTA DYESS

Students in grades five through nine at Zion Chapel, Kinston, Goodman, and New Brockton have recently been tested for scoliosis, which is a sideways (lateral) curvature of the spine, by the county nurse, Mrs. Shirley Dean.

If scoliosis is found in young people between the ages of ten and fourteen, it is easier to correct than in older people. Scoliosis tends to be hereditary and found in girls more than boys.

The students have been a little reluctant to be checked, but this test is required. They were told that this test takes only thirty seconds and it's not painful. When the kids were being checked, they were to stand in an upright position and bend over from the waist so their backs could be checked.

This checking for scoliosis is quite simple. The nurse checks to see if the head is centered over the mid buttocks, at shoulder level and with the shoulder blades level, the hips should be level and symmetrical, and they check for equal distance between the arms and body.

After the kids were checked most were found to be okay, but some were referred to their family physician.

Role Playing Helps Students Learn About The Everyday World

BY: RHONDA SENN

"Playing the Everyday World" is a new game being played at Zion Chapel. It was invented by Melinda Hodge, the resource teacher at Z.C.

"Playing the Everyday World" is a role playing activity using money. The activities are simulations of everyday living skills such as writing checks, cashing checks, paying bills, and making change.

A student is set up as a banker, a grocery store, a phone company, and an electric company. Each of these "stations" receives money from the other students for payment of bills. There is also a "boss" set up to write checks to his employees for wages. His "accounts" must figure their wages by the rates and amount of hours provided. Each of the students then changes "stations" daily.

Two groups of students participate in this game. One group works with real money with amounts under $1.00 and the other group works with simulated money in larger amounts.

When asked about how she feels about the game or how it benefits the students, Mrs. Hodge replied, "I feel these activities benefit the students by giving them real-life experiences rather than paper/pencil activities. They have increased their skills in counting money, making change, and figuring wages. They have also realized that they must assert themselves by counting change before leaving the checkout, and by speaking up if someone makes a mistake."

She also replied that "the students seemed to enjoy the activities and have learned that they have to be on their toes to keep from making a mistake."

These students have been working on this for a week and a half. Mrs. Hodge plans to continue this for at least another week and a half.

Enjoy "Good Old Days" At Mossy Grove

While most folks in this area first became acquainted with the Mossy Grove Schoolhouse Restaurant when it was known as Miss Blossom's, it is attracting a still larger clientele now that the restaurant is mainly a seafood lover's haven.

Mossy Grove, located on the old Spring Hill road south of the bypass, becomes a conversation piece as one enters the old schoolhouse. In fact, as one enters the schoolroom, now laid out in attractive decor, one sees so many period artifacts mounted on the walls and still sitting around, that many who arrive with eating on their minds decide to spend a good bit of time just browsing through the curios.

The property was purchased by Jack Finlayson of Luvaine back about last July, after Miss Blossom's went out of business. He had been interested in the property earlier, but in the meantime opened Annie's Restaurant in Luvaine. His interest was rekindled, however, when the property went up for sale. He purchased the building, worked on it for several months and re-opened for business on December 4.

The building was originally the Mossy Grove Schoolhouse, so Finlayson decided to just call it by its real name.

"The history of the building is fascinating," Finlayson relates. "It was first built in the 1800's and another room was added in 1918. One lady customer mentioned she had learned her multiplication tables in the fourth grade when she attended it as a school. The building was once used as a church, and as a home in times past."

Finlayson's idea was to limit the menu, "giving quality in the preparation of the food and good service." The restaurant offers mainly seafood dishes in "all you can eat style," he says, "but it is not set up as a buffet. Everything is cooked to order."

Ante-rooms help out with groups that want to be together. Besides the main dining room there is a cozy little room that will accommodate 20 people comfortably, and another still larger room that will accommodate several groups.

popularity to the simple menu and the quality of food and service. "With the price providing for 'all you can eat', there's no reason for anyone to ever leave the restaurant hungry."

The restaurant is open from 5:00 to 9:00 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays and Sundays 11:00-3:00, and is available for large or small parties.

SAEC Customers May Still Donate To Project Share

The next time the cold winds are howling outside or the icy rain is beating down on the doorsteps, let's not forget those people who are without heat in their homes. The Red Cross is doing something to help keep elderly and disabled persons from freezing to death or catching pneumonia through Project Share.

South Alabama Electric Cooperative members have been participating in Project Share and may continue to do so. Any donations not used for this winter's heating bills will be held over and applied to next winter's.

Cooperative members are encouraged to share by contributing $1.00 a month to Project Share when paying their bill, and contributions are tax deductible.

The funds are used in emergency heating situations, with guidelines to establish eligibility.

Before You Invest In IRAs, Read IRS Disclosure Statements

An Individual Retirement Arrangement should be chosen carefully and all financial aspects of it checked thoroughly, the Internal Revenue Service advises.

IRAs may be bought from different sources—such as banks, insurance companies, and mutual funds—the IRS explains, and savers should compare IRAs from these different sources to choose the one that is best for his or her situation. Some things to look for when shopping for an IRA are:

- How much are the fees?
- What is the interest rate and how is it figured?
- How much will you have in your account when you are ready to retire?

Check Details Even though the federal tax law on IRAs in general requires complete and accurate disclosure by financial institutions, important details are sometimes omitted, the IRS notes. For example, two investments may advertise the same interest rate but, because the interest rates are figured differently, a saver may earn more with one investment than with another. A prospective IRA purchaser should ask questions and try to obtain as much information as possible before signing on the dotted line, the IRS says.

One good way to determine which financial instrument is the best overall investment is to examine the part of the institution's disclosure statement that gives a projection of the value of the investment at the end of each of the first 5 years and also at ages 60, 65 and 70.

Law Changes Withdrawal penalties for money that is taken out prematurely are also supposed to be reflected in these projections, the IRS adds.

The IRS notes that the Tax Reform Act of 1984 requires that taxpayers must contribute to their IRAs by April 15, 1985 for the contribution to apply to the 1984 tax year. Extensions to file a federal tax return no longer extend the deadline for contributing to the IRA.

More information on IRAs is available in IRS Publication 590, Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

Crenshaw County Hospital Adds Psychiatric Program

On Monday, February 4, 1985, the Crenshaw County Hospital opened its new Psychiatric Program. Located in the newly-renovated South Wing of the hospital, the psychiatric service will accommodate ten clients for emergency and short-term care.

Designed to serve the needs of South Central Alabama, the program reflects the hospital's desire to provide effective mental health care within the local community.

The psychiatric service will be supervised by a Clinical Staff consisting of the Clinical Director, Dr. Donato Roman; a Psychiatric Social Worker, an Activities Therapist; the Program Director, Don Wert, and Psychiatric Nursing Staff under the direction of Sandy Walker. In the near future, a licensed Psychologist will join the Clinical Team.

4-H REPORT

The general atmosphere is what Finlayson tried the hardest to preserve in his re-opening bid, and he feels now that "there's not another place in the general area that can match the old-time atmosphere at Mossy Grove."

The restaurant is open from 5:00 to 9:00 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays and Sundays 11:00-3:00, and is available for large or small parties.

Arts Alliance To Present Faulkner

John Maxwell's one-man play, "Oh, Mr. Faulkner, Do You Write?" is the next presentation of the Coffee County Arts Alliance 84-85 season and will be performed at the Enterprise Civic Center Monday, March 4, at 8 p.m.

The play begins in William Faulkner's study in Oxford, Miss., where he has just learned he has won the Nobel Prize -- and it annoys him to no end.

On a hunting trip with director Howard Hawks, actor Clark Gable and several others, Faulkner was asked to name some of the best modern writers.

Faulkner ticked off a few names -- like John Dos Passos and Ernest Hemingway -- and ended with his own name.

"Oh, Mr. Faulkner, do you write?" asked Gable.

"Yes," replied Faulkner. "And what do YOU do, Mr. Gable?"

That is just one of the many rich and illuminating anecdotes about Faulkner that Maxwell uses to bring the writer to life.

Between the opening scene and the end, when Faulkner finally gives in and goes abroad for his prize, giving one of the most famous acceptance speeches of all time -- Maxwell evokes the ideas, the humor, the earthiness, the love of family, the stubbornness, the kindness of the author.

Maxwell tells it all in Faulkner's own (sometimes profane) words which have been culled from the author's letters and speeches, but not from his writings.

Maxwell orchestrates these diverse thoughts and anecdotes into a loving word portrait of Faulkner -- the simple, uneducated country man who wonders why God has chosen him, in his insignificant place in the world, as a vessel through which to write.

"Oh, Mr. Faulkner Do You Write?" is the last stage performance of the Arts Alliance season and is funded partly by the Alabama State Council on Arts and Humanities, Southern Arts Foundation and National Endowment for Arts.

A federal agency in Washington, D.C. Advance tickets at a reduced rate are available at the Plain 'N Fancy Shop in Enterprise. The Jewel Box in Elba and the ITT Office at Ft. Rucker.

The Arts Alliance will also sponsor a showing of Weeks of the late Ansel Adams from April 13 to May 10 in Gallery '22' in the Historic Rawls Hotel in Downtown Enterprise. There will be no charge for admission.

The 11th annual Piney Woods Arts Festival is scheduled for April 20 and 21 on the Campus of Enterprise State Junior College. A workshop for high school students on the life and works of William Faulkner will be conducted for students at Enterprise High School by Mr. Maxwell on Tuesday, March 5th.

Dr. Jack Hawkins, Jr. serves the Institute as President and pointed out that "approximately a dozen students are presently enrolled in the various components of the institution this year who are from Coffee County."

The photograph used in the magazine depicts Fonda excelling in the low hurdles as she and her teammates defeated the Tennessee program in the Deaf and Blind (AL) High School in a triangular track meet on the day the complex was dedicated.

Places of assistance are: New Brockton City Hall--every Tuesday from 10 a.m.-12 noon and 1 p.m.-3 p.m.; Elba Senior Citizens Bldg., on the Square every Thursday from 10 a.m.-12 noon and 1 p.m.-3 p.m.; Opp Chamber of Commerce Bldg.--every Thursday from 10 a.m.-12 noon and 1 p.m.-3 p.m.

Enjoy "Good Old Days" At Mossy Grove

While most folks in this area first became acquainted with the Mossy Grove Schoolhouse Restaurant when it was known as Miss Blossom's, it is attracting a still larger clientele now that the restaurant is mainly a seafood lover's haven.

Mossy Grove, located on the old Spring Hill road south of the bypass, becomes a conversation piece as one enters the old schoolhouse. In fact, as one enters the schoolroom, now laid out in attractive decor, one sees so many period artifacts mounted on the walls and just sitting around, that many who arrive with eating on their minds decide to spend a good bit of time just browsing through the curios.

The property was purchased by Jack Finlayson of Luverne back about last July, after Miss Blossom's went out of business. He had been interested in the property earlier, but in the meantime opened Annie's Restaurant in Luverne. His interest was rekindled, however, when the property went up for sale. He purchased the building, worked on it for several months and re-opened the business on December 4. The building was originally the Mossy Grove Schoolhouse, so Finlayson decided to just call it by its real name.

"The history of the building is fascinating," Finlayson relates. "It was first built in the 1800's and another room was added in 1918. One lady customer mentioned she had learned her multiplication tables in the fourth grade when she attended it as a school. The building was once used as a church, and as a home in times past."

Finlayson's idea was to limit the menu, "giving quality in the preparation of the food and good service." The restaurant offers mainly seafood dishes in "all you can eat style," he says, "but it is not set up as a buffet. Everything is cooked to order."

Finlayson is not afraid of new ideas. This past Saturday night's menu was proudly offering "fried dill pickle," and a sampling proved surprisingly good. He is pleased with the way the restaurant has caught on, and he attributes its popularity to the simple menu and the quality of food and service. "With the price providing for 'all you can eat', there's no reason for anyone to ever leave the restaurant hungry."

Ante-rooms help out with groups that want to be together. Besides the main dining room there is a cozy little room that will accommodate 20 people comfortably, and another still larger room that will accommodate several groups.

SAEC Customers May Still Donate To Project Share

The next time the cold winds are howling outside or the icy rain is beating down on the doorsteps, let's not forget those people who are without heat in their homes. The Red Cross is doing something to help keep elderly and disabled persons from freezing to death or catching pneumonia through Project Share.

South Alabama Electric Cooperative members have been participating in Project Share and may continue to do so. Any donations not used for this winter's heating bills will be held over and applied to next winter's, said officials at SAEC.

Cooperative members are encouraged to share by contributing $1.00 a month to Project Share when paying their bill, and contributions are tax deductible.

The funds are used in emergency heating situations with guidelines to establish eligibility.

Before You Invest In IRAs, Read IRS Disclosure Statements

An Individual Retirement Arrangement should be chosen carefully and all financial aspects of it checked thoroughly, the Internal Revenue Service advises.

IRAs may be bought from different sources—such as banks, insurance companies, and mutual funds—the IRS explains, and savers should compare IRAs from these different sources to choose the one that is best for his or her situation. Some things to look for when shopping for an IRA are:

- How much are the fees?
- What is the interest rate and how is it figured?
- How much will you have in your account when you are ready to retire?

The Internal Revenue Service cautions taxpayers about misleading or incomplete disclosure statements related to Individual Retirement Arrangements.

Check Details: Even though the federal tax law on IRAs in general requires complete and accurate disclosure by financial institutions, important details are sometimes omitted, the IRS notes. For example, two investments may advertise the same interest rate but, because the interest rates are figured differently, a saver may earn more with one investment than with another. A prospective IRA purchaser should ask questions and try to obtain as much information as possible before signing on the dotted line, the IRS says.

One good way to determine which financial instrument is the best overall investment is to examine the part of the institution's disclosure statement that gives a projection of the value of the investment at the end of each of the first 5 years and also at ages 60, 65 and 70.

Law Changes: Withdrawal penalties for money that is taken out prematurely are also supposed to be reflected in these projections, the IRS adds.

The IRS notes that the Tax Reform Act of 1984 requires that taxpayers must contribute to their IRAs by April 15, 1985 for the contribution to apply to the 1984 tax year. Extensions to file a federal tax return no longer extend the deadline for contributing to the IRA.

More information on IRAs is available in IRS Publication 590, Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

Crenshaw County Hospital Adds Psychiatric Program

On Monday, February 4, 1985, the Crenshaw County Hospital opened its new Psychiatric Program. Located in the newly-renovated South Wing of the hospital, the psychiatric service will accommodate ten clients for emergency and short-term care.

Designed to serve the needs of South Central Alabama, the program reflects the hospital's desire to provide effective mental health care within the local community.

The psychiatric service will be supervised by a Clinical Staff consisting of the Clinical Director, Dr. Donato Roman; a Psychiatric Social Worker, an Activities Therapist; the Program Director, Don Wert, and Psychiatric Nursing Staff under the direction of Sandy Walker. In the near future, a licensed Psychologist will join the Clinical Team.

The environment of the psychiatric service is designed to be cheerful and home-like. "Everything in the program should contribute to the client's sense of acceptance and well-being," says Wert. "Our Clinical Team is trying to eliminate the fear and shame that has often prevented persons from seeking psychiatric help when needed."

The Clinical Staff of the Psychiatric Service is available for consultation or for programs of community education about Mental Health.

According to John Lee, Hospital Administrator, "The Crenshaw County Hospital is committed to the extent of mental health problems."

Lee added, "Three out of every ten persons in this country will experience stressful situations of life events that require the assistance of a mental health professional."

The Program Director, Don Wert, emphasized the enormous costs to individuals and to society from untreated emotional illnesses. "The person who does not receive care and treatment of mental or emotional problems never enjoys the full range of his unique personal gifts," says Wert. He adds, "Mental and emotional illness, when untreated, deprives the community of potential enrichment. The psychiatric service at the Crenshaw County Hospital is designed to help clients grow and develop to their full capacity."

There must be something about playing in tournaments that the Elba Tigers like! Back in December, the Tigers surprised everyone by winning the Coffee County Championship Tourney, and last week the Tigers did it again as they won the Area 3 Tourney to advance to Sub-State. Hey, Elba is 4-0 in tournaments and has two big ole championship trophies. That ain't too bad at all!

Elba carried a 5-13 record into last week's Area tourney and while a lot of people thought the season would soon be over, I figured we might win one game and with a little luck could win it all. Well, we won it all, but it wasn't luck. Elba's players gave it all they had in both games and the hard work paid off with the Area title. Coach Kennedy and his team deserve a lot of credit for bringing Elba its first Area crown in basketball in a long, long time!

The county schools all finished the season in the "Top 10" in the state and all three advanced to Sub-state action, as New Brockton and Zion Chapel won Area crowns, while Kinston was an Area runner-up.

New Brockton made shambles of the Class 2A, Area 3 tourney as it breezed to wins over Samson and Houston County. The Gamecocks start 4 juniors and 1 sophomore, and these youngsters have really grown-up during the course of the season. Brockton is back!

Zion Chapel may very well be the best kept secret in state basketball circles, despite its lofty ranking. The Rebels won the Area tourney last week and it was their third straight Area title! Zion Chapel can win against anyone on any given night.

Kinston was upset in the Area finals, but the Bulldogs aren't about to give up and won't go down without a fight. Kinston wins on desire, teamwork, and coaching, and the "Dogs" are loaded in all three categories. It ain't over yet!

The State Basketball Tournaments will start next week at Tuscaloosa and Birmingham, and loyal basketball fans across the state are confused about whether to watch the small schools (1A-2A-3A) play at Tuscaloosa, or watch the big boys (4A-5A, 6A) in Birmingham. I'll know more Saturday, but right now I plan on watching Elba at B'ham and all three county schools at Tuscaloosa. Sounds like fun to me!

CHANGING SPORTS...Elba's football program continued to gain statewide recognition last week when Michael Scott and John Hudson signed scholarships with Jacksonville State. Both players were named on numerous all-state teams and both should see a lot of action at Jacksonville for years to come.

Bids will be opened soon on the construction of Elba's new city pool and plans are for the "olympic" pool to be ready for use by July 4. The pool will have a diving well, which will allow divers not to bother swimmers, and other first class features. Let's keep an eye on it.

Zion Chapel Rebels Ambush Straughn & Florala To Claim Class 2A, Area 4 Basketball Crown

The Zion Chapel Rebels claimed their third straight Area basketball championship last week as they defeated Straughn and Florala to claim the Class 2A, Area 4 crown.

The Rebels won the Class 1A, Area 5 crown in 1983 and 1984, and this year moved up a class and continued to show its power.

The Rebels pulled out to an early 8-0 lead in the game and appeared headed for an easy win, only to see Straughn battle back to tie the score at 14-14. Zion Chapel, sparked by Frankie Downing, rallied late in the half to pull out to a 29-22 bulge, but couldn't pull away and led 41-34 going into the fourth quarter. The Rebels began to press in the final stanza and caused numerous turnovers to finally put the Tigers away and post the win.

Frankie Downing scored 22 points and grabbed 9 rebounds to lead Zion Chapel, while Dennis Evans added 17 points. Mark Dewrell scored 14 for Straughn.

The Zion Chapel Rebels pulled away in the final stanza to defeat a pesky bunch of Straughn Tigers (67-46), Thursday night in the Class 2A, Area 4 tournament.

Brantley had defeated Dozier 56-55 in the opening round, while Kinston received a bye.

The two teams swapped buckets in the opening stanza as neither team could take charge; however, Kinston switched to a pressing defense in the second quarter and turned Brantley turnovers into easy points to open up a 40-27 halftime lead.

The Kinston Bulldogs exploded for 30-points in the second quarter to take command and then rolled to an easy 90-66 win over the Brantley Bulldogs, last week in the Class 1A, Area 4 tournament.</

Continuing Negro History Month of February

Voices of the Past Speak to the Present

When Grandma used to sit you down and talk about her life, she wasn't just telling tales. She was following a long line of Black historians who passed their precious knowledge from generation to generation using the most expressive instrument created: the human voice.

This knowledge is power; because when you know where you came from, you know who you are. Our grandparents knew this — so did W.E.B. Dubois, Sojourner Truth, Carter G. Woodson and Martin L. King Jr.

They also knew how important it was that this knowledge continue to be handed down. Black History Month is a reminder for us to learn from the past, because it positively affects the quality of our future.

A real picture of being Black in America includes all of the real. The future rests on people of all races working together to make our common reality one we can all be proud of.

In 1909 a black man, Matthew Henson, planted the American flag at the North Pole. He was a member of Admiral Perry's expedition, and is one of many Black Americans to break new ground.

The second book published by a woman in America was written by a black woman, Phillis Wheatley, in 1773.

In 1893 at Providence Hospital in Chicago, Dr. Daniel Hale Williams performed the first successful heart operation.

Black History Month is a time to honor accomplished men and women of the past and a time to look ahead to many accomplishments in the future.

There are thousands of stories like these — enough to fill a library. And thanks to efforts like Black History Month, some day they will be.

Ebony Magazine

During this Black History Month I recall a number of black Americans of the past who probably are on the tip of your tongue: Rev. Rance Stoudermirre, Rev. D.W. Gray, Rev. Bert Carpenter, Rev. G.T. Thomas, Mr. Ernest Lane, Mr. Lev Hammonds, Mr. Grady Blue, Mr. Allen Gray, Mr. Alto Jeter, Uncle Charlie Porter, Mr. Virgil Waters, Mr. Scott Lindner, Mr. Jim Henry Brooks, Rev. J.D. Dixon, Rev. A.J. Jackson, Mr. John F. Wilkerson, Mr. Isom Belcher, Mr. Monroe Henderson and Uncle Lee Williams. These are just a few of those who remember as being very dedicated men of this area.

ANXIETY

Peter Marshall once referred to ulcers as the "badges of our lack of faith."

George Miller said, "The beginning of anxiety is the end of faith, and the beginning of true faith is the end of anxiety."

There is something uncomfortably inconsistent about Christians who are chronic worriers. Jesus recognized that even His own disciples were too often anxious about things, and He often spoke to them in these terms: "I am in control, and things are going to be alright."
